Fron County Register

General Bragg has been defeated in his attempt to secure a renomination for Congress by the Democrats of the Second Wisconsin district. He, says the New York Star, is the bright particular Bragg who declared in the Chicago convention that he loved Governor Cleveland for the enemies that he had made. This foolish utterance, though much commended by the Mugwump press, was one of the most serious of the causes that came near defeating Mr. Cleveland in this State. General Bragg has been caught in makig a political bargain and then breaking it, and he is not so shining a light in reform circles as he was. He is disposed toward sensational utterances and has in times past made himself unpleasantly conspicuous by his denunciations of the southern people. He can probably be spared.
